A new Petroleum regulation will go into effect on that date. All A B and C ration book holders must pay cash for gasoline. All holders of T cards will be entitled to charge gasoline.

GERMANS SURRENDER AS MORALE DECLINES

Important news from the battle front was crowded off front pages Wednesday as correspondents made the most of a meeting between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain in Casa Blanca in French Morocco.

Wednesday the Red Army in Russia was piling up new victories. The surrender of an entire German regiment may indicate a break up of the Hitler army in the snows. Disintegration may have set in if the surrender may be taken as an indication.

Observers were not inclined to give the Germans anything but an outside chance to stop the present Russian drive.

In Berlin the German radio continued, along with newspapers, to paint a gloomy picture of what is taking place on the Eastern front. The loss of Rostov and Kharkov will complete the disaster and force the Germans to new lines.

German fortifications are believed to have been built along the Dnieper river.

So far no major battle has been fought in Tunisia. The Allies had gained some ground in isolated battles around the circle forged about the armies of General Rommel.

Comparative quiet had settled down over the South Pacific area but General MacArthur was making good progress and it was predicted that Guadalcanal may soon be freed of Japs.

Local Gas Stations May Work Out Hours Open Agreement Here

Gasoline Stations were closed Sunday due to the issuance of petroleum regulation establishing hours to remain open.

No gasoline service station may stay open in excess of 72 hours a week unless the management elects to remain open 24 hours a day.

The point in such a regulation is not made plain. If all stations elect to remain open 24 hours a day the natural assumption is that gasoline sales would be increased.

Local station dealers Monday had not reached any understanding about a schedule for the convenience of the public but were expected to do so.

Roosevelt-Churchill Morocco Conference Fails Speculation

The meeting of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain in Casa Blanca in French Morocco, news of which was released at 9 p. m. Tuesday night, failed completely to justify expectations built up over a 10 day period of radio and press predictions.

The people believed a vital war development was at hand and were prepared for a peace offer from the Axis. When the long heralded announcement came to disclose only a conference, the let down was terrific.

No one here or in the nation as far as could be learned, were satisfied. There was no obvious effort to belittle the effects of such a meeting and all recognize its importance, but it was far from being a world rocking event.

Mr. Roosevelt as a precedent setter, has established something of a record. He becomes the first president to fly and he crossed 5000 miles of the Atlantic to meet Churchill at Casa Blanca.

The English press was certain America was on toes. The English viewpoint admits of enthusiasm when Royalty wins a cricket match or falls off a horse. The American viewpoint is different. If somebody had clubbed Hitler to death at Bergstakagen or Tokyo had been destroyed by bombs the average American might have felt himself well paid remaining up a cold night until 9 p. m. to listen to the "momentous announcement."

Joe Stalin in Moscow, supplied the irony. He thanked them for the invitation to take part in the meeting but excused himself on the grounds he is engaged fighting the enemy.

It was understood that Mr. O'Neill would resign as District Court Stenographer and also as statistician for the Department of Commerce, two positions which he has held for a number of years.

Rural Route 4 out of Cameron is a combination of Star Route and Route 1 out of the Maysfield office.

350,000 LAYING HENS GOAL FOR MILAM CO.

The 1943 food production goals for Milam County call for a nine per cent increase in the number of hens and pullets kept for laying and a sixteen per cent increase in the number of chickens raised, according to J. W. Stufflebeme, Jr., County Agent. Translated into totals, this means approximately 350,000 laying hens and pullets and 540,000 chickens raised.

Poultry raisers should plan their 1943 program by starting two groups of chicks, one to come off in February or early March, and another as soon as the first group can be removed from the brooder house. It will be an advantage to raise straight run chicks this year. The cockerels could be fed out as heavy fryers and sold at good price this spring.

Moderation should be observed. Over crowding, lack of feed hopper space, and lack of water fountains should be guarded against. Stufflebeme recommends at least one square foot for each two chicks in the brooder house and at least one inch of feed space per chick. At least one quart of water should be provided for each 25 chicks. For best results, allow at least three square feet of floor space for each hen and three inches of feeder space, and provide approximately five gallons of drinking water for each 100 hens in the house.

To avoid transportation delays Stufflebeme suggests buying chicks as near home as possible. But in doing so, choose the better grade from a reliable hatchery, preferably one operating under the National Poultry Improvement Program, or from one carrying on a comparable program.

200-Year Yield Of Potash Seen

Geologist Says Reserves Can Meet New Demands
Made by War.

WASHINGTON. — First-line reserves of potash in the United States can supply the nation's needs for at least 200 years, despite the steadily mounting wartime demand, according to a report to the American Chemical Society by Dr. George R. Mansfield, geologist in charge of the areal and nonmetalliferous section of the United States geological survey.

The annual rate of consumption of potash is about 500,000 tons. Potash, it is pointed out, is important in the increased war production of food and in chemical and other industries manufacturing essential military and civilian commodities.

"World War II finds the United States equipped with a potash industry well established with adequate supplies of raw materials, methods of production carefully worked out, plant capacities ample for expected demands, and prices little affected by the disturbed conditions of world trade," Dr. Mansfield said.

Learned Its Lesson.

"In 1914 at the outbreak in Europe of the first World war Germany was virtually the sole source of supply for the potash needs of the world. The United States having learned through an unfortunate experience with Germany some of the disadvantages of dependence on that nation was already bestirring itself to find supplies of its own, but made little progress before war conditions shut off foreign supplies. The dearth of potash and the skyrocketing of prices gave added impetus to the search and many expedients with both inorganic and organic source materials were tried, mostly without lasting success.

"After the war research was continued chiefly along two lines. The government followed up oil-well drilling in the Permian Basin of Texas and New Mexico to find evidences of potash beds of possible commercial importance that might have been cut by the drills, and the American Trona corporation at Searles Lake, Calif., predecessor of the present American Potash and Chemical corporation, applied itself to problems of chemical research and engineering to separate potassium chloride commercially from a complex natural brine. Both agencies accomplished their objectives."

In Favorable Position.

The future of the potash industry in the United States is subject to two broad controls, Dr. Mansfield said. "The first is natural, concerned with sources of supply; the second, political and social. So far as can now be told, the industry is secure for at least several generations and probably indefinitely.

"The available raw materials determine the nature of the necessary operations and to some extent the prices at which the American potash industry may undertake them. Thus they exercise a natural control over the industry."

The potash industry, according to Dr. Mansfield, is in a favorable position to deal with the introduction of free trade, which, he said, may result from post-war application of the terms of the Atlantic Charter.

Crutches Must Be Saved,

Daring Cripple Gets 'Em

KANSAS CITY, KAN. — Ralph Maxwell, 19, suffers from a foot ailment, and he doesn't intend to lose his crutches.

When the gasoline truck in which he'd been riding burst into flame, he rushed from the service station in which it was unloading.

Driver Virgil Gunn shouted a warning, but Maxwell clambered into the cab—to rescue the crutches.

While there, he paused long enough to drive the burning truck away from the service station to a vacant lot, where it flamed harmlessly.

Then he used the crutches to scurry to safety.

Milkman, and No McCoy

PHILADELPHIA.—Amy Hatfield, 18, became Philadelphia's first girl milk wagon driver. She does not care if the customers call her milk-woman "as long as they don't call me milkman."

Amy said she will not have any trouble enforcing the "no milkman" request.

"I'm a descendant of those Blue Ridge Mountain Hatfields of feudin' fame and my ancestors shot dozens of McCoy's because one of them stole a Hatfield pig," she remarked.

A sister, Juana, was the first girl service station attendant employed by a major oil company.

Our Freedom Is Priceless

By JOSEPH E. DAVIES
Former Ambassador to Russia and Belgium.

(Written for the Treasury Department in connection with the Retailers' "SAY YES" campaign to complete the nation's 100,000,000 partially filled War Stamp albums.)

What I myself saw in my four years in Europe gave me a new realization of the priceless rights which we here enjoy.

No secret police can in the night whisk us away, never again to be seen by those we love.

None of us can be deprived by any party, state or tyrant of those precious civil liberties which our laws and our courts guarantee.

None of us can be persecuted for practicing the faith which we found at our mother's knee.

None of us can be persecuted, tortured or killed because of the fact that an accident of fate might have made us of the same race as the Nazarene.

No American can be placed by any party or government in a regimented vise which takes from him or her either freedom of economic opportunity or political religious liberty.

What would the millions of unfortunate men, women and children in Europe give to be able to live and enjoy such a way of life?

Well, in this war, those are the things in our lives which are in jeopardy. Our boys are dying to preserve them for us.

Then we can do no less than to "say yes" and fill those war stamp albums. It is our duty and privilege to help the secretary of the treasury, Mr. Morgenthau, in his magnificent effort to do the tremendous job of getting the money to keep our boys supplied with the weapons with which to fight our fight.

Surely that is little enough for us to do on the home front.

GERMAN RADIO ADMITS DISASTER IN THE EAST

Veronezh, important Russian rail military center, between Moscow and Kharkov, Monday fell to the Red Army and over the German radio the world heard for the first time a gloomy picture painted of the disaster in the east.

The Germans have admitted that their armies have been defeated and have suffered a first ranking military disaster. The German people were told the military situation would be improved.

The rapid, continuing advance of the Red armies indicated that the military situation for the Germans will not improve. On the contrary the situation will worsen. Hourly the Germans are coming near to collapse in the East.

Kharkov, capital of the Ukraine and Rostov the gate to the Caucasus are now virtually under siege by the Russians who have cleaned out all pockets of resistance wherever their great pincer arms have reached out to engulf German forces.

Some 400,000 Germans are cut off and doomed in the Caucasus. The Berlin radio virtually conceded the situation there is lost.

A Red army communication at noon said the Russians are closing in on two highly important railroad centers.

The British are keeping up the pace of heavy fighting in North Africa. Contrary to common belief here the Americans have done little fighting in North Africa. The British outnumber the Americans 10 to 1 and even the French have a larger number of troops in action than the Americans have in the whole of the continent.

The United Nations are stepping up the air war in New Guinea where the Japs have been whipped and face extermination. Tokyo, like Berlin has finally admitted defeat.

The Germans were counter attacking with great fury in Tunisia out the Allied armies were said holding. The French had to give up some ground late Sunday but reports indicated it had been regained.

72 HOURS WEEK FOR GASOLINE STATIONS

Dallas, Jan. 24.—As of 12:01 a. m. Sunday the nation's motorists can not drive into their favorite filling station and expect service at any hour.

Into effect one minute after last midnight went the following restrictions on the hours of service any filling station may give, as ordered by petroleum administrator Harold Ickes.

Stations must elect to stay open 24 hours every day of the week, or Stay open not more than 72 hours a week and for not more than 12 hours a day.

The Office of War Information supplemented this with a statement that many stations have inquired whether they can remain open seven days a week for a total of 72 hours.

The answer, OWI said, is yes.

OWI consultation with the Houston Petroleum Administration for War office disclosed that stations may operate seven days a week, but no more than 12 hours in any day. OWI, explaining this provision, said it had received many inquiries on this point.

Stations choosing the 72 hour week may choose which day they wish to remain closed.

Ordinary drivers may not obtain service at any hour of the day or night in stations remaining open 24 hours a day. These stations will service every vehicle for any 12-hour period the station elects; during the remaining 12 hours only holders of T-cards may obtain service. There is no option about this provision.

Gas stations may service civilian cars out of regular hours in case of emergencies involving "life, health and property." Where station operators have doubts in serving civilian drivers in such cases, they may sell gas and require a written statement from the purchaser.

Stations cannot suddenly change their schedule of hours. Those on the 24-hour basis must follow it for at least 30 days; those on the 72-hour schedule can change after seven days.

Owen Stidham Writes He Is Recuperating From Pneumonia

Owen Stidham, in a letter to the publisher of the Herald, says he is recuperating from a pneumonia attack suffered some time ago.

Stidham, former football star, who left school when war came on and enlisted in the navy, is now stationed at a submarine base somewhere on the east coast.

After completing training he went aboard a destroyer. He was stack gassed off Alaska and suffered some temporary trouble and when pneumonia came was very ill for a few days, but thanks to good care and the strength and nerve of a good seaman he will soon be back in service.

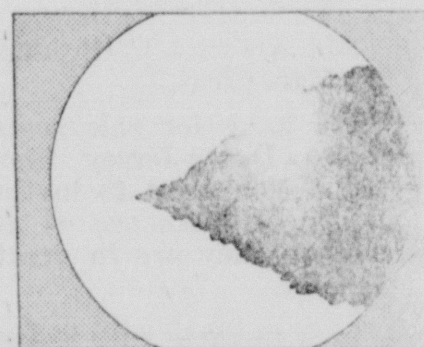

"I will be out of here soon sinking Jap or German ships, if the war lasts long enough. At first I was on a ship sinking subs. Soon I will be on a sub sinking ships. They tell me Mussolini has ordered a glass bottom boat where he can review his navy," said Stidham in his letter.

Mack Akers and two daughters, Iva Gene and Emma Julia are visiting friends in Louisiana this week.

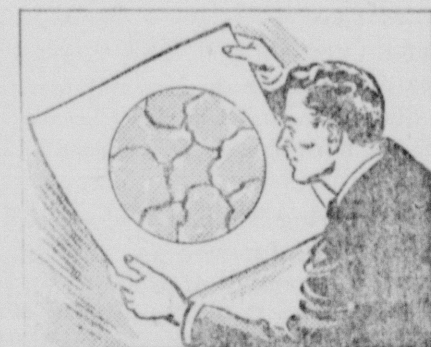

C. T. Isabell of Thorndale was in Cameron Friday.

BENNY LEE KENNON

With Pfc. A. J. Belinka and Joe J. Jerosyski of Camp Bowie

Here is Benny Lee (Buffalo) Kennon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Kennon, with two newly made pals of the army. This picture was taken last fall on the occasion of the visit here of these soldiers. The picture was brought to the Herald by Benny Lee and was sent away for a newspaper cut along with many others, just arrived for publication in the Midget and weekly Herald.

With Benny Lee are Pfc. A. J. Belinka of Camp Bowie and Pfc. Joe J. Jerosyski of Camp Bowie. The picture was made by another soldier of the group on the east walk of the court house. Buffalo holds a prized toy pistol in his hands as he faces the cameraman while giving evidence of enjoying the attentions of his pals in uniform.

Each week end as soldiers come to Cameron Benny Lee does his share to entertain them and he is widely known among men of the army stationed all over the country and many now on the battle fronts of the world.

Gladys Sheppard
Former Cameron Girl
Married In Temple

News of interest this week to the people of Cameron is the wedding of a former Cameron girl, Miss Gladys Sheppard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Sheppard, and Charles Forrest, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Forrest of Temple.

The single ring ceremony was performed Sunday, January 24, at 7:30 p. m. in the Assembly of God church in Temple by Rev. O. T. Finch, pastor of the church. The church was beautifully decorated with ferns and mixed flowers.

The bride chose a light aqua blue wool suit with dusty rose and black accessories. Her flowers were gardenias.

Miss Louise Croft, who acted as the bride's maid wore a two piece blue dress of romaine crepe with brown accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The groom's only attendant was a cousin of the bride, Alton Sheppard.

The music for the wedding was furnished by Miss Kathryn Hoesch who played Wagner's "Bridal Chorus," from Lohengrin and accompanied Miss Mary Louise Roberts who sang "I Love Thee," from Beethoven.

Mrs. Forrest graduated from Temple high school in 1942 and for the past several months has been employed by the Temple Telegram.

Mr. Forrest attended school in Temple and is employed by a firm in Temple.

The couple will make their home at 1204 South 27th in Temple.

Louis Krough, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Krough of San Antonio, is a Cameron native and lived here until a large school boy, going with his parents to San Antonio, and is somewhere in England, and has been for some time. What Is a Dry Beer?

MANY people think a dry beer is one that merely lacks sweetness. Is this true? Positively no!

Then is it sweet? No!

Is it bitter? No!

Is it tart? No!

None of these describe its thirst-quenching goodness.

A dry beer has no lingering aftertaste! Its delicate palate sensation is not covered by sweetness. It leaves your mouth clean and cool. No filled-up feeling.

That's why it's refreshing.

Blatz is a genuine, dry beer. One glass will tell you more than a thousand words.

It is made by a more costly process of brewing. Taste it. Check it point for point. Notice how pure and refreshed your mouth feels whether you drink one, two, or more glasses.

The proof is in every glass. Order Blatz from your dealer today.

TECH. SGT. DICK LUNSFORD

Tech. Sgt. Dick Lunsford, Air Corps, United States Army, is now in North Africa. He is a volunteer and enlisted two years ago in the mechanical service of the air corps. He has completed assignments in a number of outposts, one of which was Iceland.

When the expeditionary forces landed in North Africa in November American airmen went in ahead and Sgt. Dick Lunsford was in the vanguard of the invasion of the continent and is now seeing action on the fronts which late Friday culminated in the capture of Tripoli by the British 8th Army.

Sgt. Lunsford, born and reared in Cameron, is the son of Dan Lunsford, City Marshal in Cameron. He was born in 1921 and graduated from Yoe High School. In his senior year he was a Yoemen and played football.

When Sgt. Lunsford, clean living and known widely for his fine habits, enlisted he was sent to Louisiana and subsequently to Harding Field. He has served in the states of Washington, Oregon, California and also in Iceland. The big theatre of war now finds him in North Africa.

In a recent letter to his father here he told of having gone in with the first of the air forces but due to censorship could not discuss what transpired. Sgt. Lunsford is a fine specimen of an American fighting man, weighing 210 pounds and is a credit to the air service and all Cameron is proud of him.

"Love" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 31.

IF YOUR LIGHTS GO OUT, OR YOUR APPLIANCES WON'T OPERATE, IT MAY BE DUE TO A BLOWN OUT FUSE... HERE'S

HOW TO CHANGE YOUR OWN FUSES

WHEN the lights go out in your home, or your appliances won't operate, find out if the same is true in your whole neighborhood. If not, the trouble is probably in your home, and the first thing to do is look for and replace any blown fuses, which may have failed because of too many appliances plugged in one circuit, overloaded appliances, defective appliances or defective cords.

Fuses, which are found in a metal box, or porcelain block, set into or on the wall, usually near where your service wires come into the house, may be replaced as follows:

HOW TO TELL A "BLOWN" FUSE

Usually you can identify a blown fuse by the blackened condition of the "glass" at the top of the fuse, or by a break in the fuse itself as shown in the above illustration.

When you close the main switch, the new fuse blows out, and no appliance is defective, then telephone your local electrician or service man.

1. Open the main switch, which is usually located in the box with, or immediately adjacent to, the fuse receptacle. Disconnect appliances and portable lamps which were in use just before the lights went out.
2. Stand on a dry wooden floor, board, or chair (never on bare concrete, damp wood, or on the ground).
3. Screw out the blown fuse, touching only the top of the fuse. Put in a new fuse of the same size. Then close the main switch.
4. Your lights should come on again now, and you should be able to reconnect your appliances. If reconnecting any one of the appliances causes another fuse to blow, the appliance is defective.

COLONIAL EMPIRE OF MUSSOLINI IS NO MORE

The Union Jack was raised over government buildings in Tripoli late Friday in token of a British victory which ended the dreams of Benito Mussolini for a colonial empire several times larger than the United States.

General Benard Montgomery began his attack on the Germans and Italians in October. He predicted that Tripoli would fall by January 23 and he missed his guess by only 5 hours.

Marching more than 1300 miles the British 8th Army has scored one of the signal victories of military history. Not content with the capture of the city which was put to the torch by General Rommel before his flight into Tunisia, the British were streaming on past Tripoli in hot pursuit.

Late Friday units of the British navy, off shore from Tripoli hurled tons of shells into the city which was largely in flames. Several axis ships were sunk in the harbor, including one Italian submarine.

It was believed that General Rommel intends to make a stand inside Tunisia where the French built a line of fortifications against Italian Tripolitania. If General Rommel succeeds in reaching these fortifications he may be able to withstand a considerable pounding. The Americans are approaching Tunis from the west, the British from the East and the French from the South. North is the water of the Mediterranean and the British fleet.

The victory of Montgomery is the turning point of the war in North Africa and signals the end of the Axis there.

On the Western front the Russians continue to advance, taking new important objectives along the road to Rostov. The German press has frankly warned the German people of a Russian break through and a major military defeat, the first the Germans have admitted since the war began.

The RAF was over the Industrial Ruhr valley again Friday night.

General Douglas MacArthur has completed the campaign in New Guinea with the slaying of the last Jap in three isolated pockets. All was going well in the Solomons as well.

The best for you is our wish.

Allied Announcement Said Important in The Conduct of War

Radio and newspapers for the past 10 days have made prominent mention of a forthcoming United Nations Announcement, said to have an important bearing on the whole war outlook.

The hour is 9 p. m. tonight.

Commentators have speculated and as usual made their predictions on what may occur. Most are agreed the new announcement will involve a unified command with either a British or an American directing the armed forces; composition of the political situation in North Africa or a new front.

A noon broadcast said the announcement might be expected any moment. It will have to be significant to justify advance speculation.

Rickenbacker Wants Men who Fight to Have Union Free Jobs

Eddie Rickenbacker, American ace in World War I, shocked labor-minded Washington Saturday, by declaring flatly that when the war is over the men who have done the fighting should be guaranteed a job free from Union Labor oppression.

Mr. Rickenbacker said he is not opposed to Union Labor but does not want men to be forced to join a Union in order to live and to work.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gohman of Rockdale were visiting in Cameron Monday.

9 P. M. IS HOUR SET FOR ANNOUNCEMENT

In Berlin the Nazi world assassins were begging the German people to be as brave as the British women and children who took everything the Luftwaffe had in 1940, dug 52,000 graves in England and rose up to defend the white cliffs of Dover.

Dr. Goebbels was pleading with the people of the Reich in the face of great military disaster on the Russian front and with Berlin in partial ruins from the blasting of RAF planes.

The tone of the German press and radio brought speculation to the front, especially in view of the announcement that at 9 p. m. Tuesday night an announcement that may "shake the foundations of the world," will be made from Washington. Whatever the developments it was getting a sufficient build up so that all may have reason to expect a momentous announcement.

Some said it might be a new battle thrust and some went so far as to say a peace offer may have come from the Axis.

The hour is 9 p. m. tonight.

Crushing defeat of the Germans was leading to belief that some world shaking event may occur.

In Marseilles French people were fighting the Germans. Some 400,000 French patriots were facing arrest and deportation for defying the Nazi.

The entire left wing of the German army in Russia has been crushed and it was believed the Germans may not be able to establish a new defense line on the Dnieper river.

Indications were that General Rommel may not stop at the Mareth line in Tunisia but may speed up to the city itself and the environs of the port.

French units have made contact with the Germans and a hot battle is in progress.

American forces in Tunisia are not expected to do any of the fighting but may see some action. The mystery of their inactivity caused Germans to drop notes challenging the Americans to fight. That never before has happened in history. The Americans retaliated with a raid that netted 80 prisoners.

The British 8th Army was pushing on into Tunisia with Tripoli behind them and life was well ordered after its fall to the army of General Montgomery several days ago.

The final stages of the battle for Tunisia and all of North Africa was being set as the once proud Afrika Korps ran. Most optimistic of the United Nations key men say that months may lapse before the fighting is ended in North Africa.

If months are to lapse before Rommel is defeated there will be no invasion from the Mediterranean spring board this year and "the belly of the beast," will still be spared.

Air power stepped up in the South Pacific was writing the final chapter in the turn of events from a year ago. General Douglas MacArthur was fast dissolving the Jap units who landed with the first invasion months ago.

MILK CEILING PRICES ANNOUNCED BY OPA

Cameron, January 18.—A revision in the ceiling price of fluid sweet milk sold at wholesale and retail for Milam County has been ordered in a new regulation issued by the Southwest Regional OPA office, Sam Perry, Chairman of the Local War Price and Rationing Board, announced today.

The ceiling price set for the City of Cameron will differ from the ceiling price set for the rest of the county under the OPA Order, Mr. Perry explained.

The following ceiling prices for wholesalers and retailers of milk were set by OPA for the city of Cameron:

Container	Wholesale	Retail
Gallon	44	48
1-2 gallon	23	15
Quart	11 1-2	13
Pint	5 3-4	6 1/2
1-3 quart	4
1-2 pint	3 1-4

The following maximum prices will prevail in the rest of the county:

Container	Wholesale	Retail
Gallon	40	44
1-2 gallon	21	23
Quart	10 1-2	12
Pint	5 1-4	6
1-3 quart	3 2-3
1-2 pint	3

The price revisions in Milam County are part of a region wide program designed to restore balance in the supply of milk to different communities and for different uses.

Culminating two month's work, regional OPA officials in Dallas ordered the new price adjustment to replace the General Maximum Price Regulation, which set the ceiling price of milk for retailers and wholesalers at the highest price each individual seller charged in March 1942.

Mr. Perry pointed out that the freezing of prices at the March highest level, in many instances, caused diversion of milk from one area with a low ceiling to an area with a high ceiling and also caused diversion of milk from normal consumption channels to manufacturing channels.

The new regulation, Mr. Perry explained, only sets a maximum price which can be charged for milk in this county—wholesalers and retailers can sell at any price below the ceiling. Petitions for adjustments can be made to the Office of Price Administration at Dallas, Mr. Perry said.

Under the maximum price regulation which revises the ceiling prices of sweet milk, every county, parish, city and town in Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Missouri, and Kansas are placed in either Class 1, 2 or 3 in Zone 1 or in Class 1, 2 or 3 in Zone 2. Milam County is in Class 3 Zone 2. The City of Cameron is in Class 2, Zone 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cheeves and Mrs. Dahlia Woods, have returned from Dallas where they purchased a stock of goods for Cheeves Bros. store here.

Mrs. Mary V. Posey is visiting her daughter in Austin this week.

Women AT WAR

Sophia

Mrs. Kimball and Mrs. Worthington, dressed soberly and wearing their best black gloves, walked along the stony country road back toward Sophia Hardy's farm, to pay their visit of condolence.

"How do you reckon she'll be bearing up?" Mrs. Kimball asked Mrs. Worthington. Both ladies wore their most solemn, funereal expressions.

"A mighty severe blow," Mrs. Worthington said. "Mighty severe. To lose your only son, the mainstay of your declining years. And such a dreadful death, too—to go down with a ship. Mercy!"

"The first of our boys from Hand County to go, too," Mrs. Kimball said, mournfully. "I wouldn't blame Sophia Hardy for feeling right bitter."

They stood on the simple stone doorstep, with downcast eyes, getting themselves into the proper commiserative mood.

"Come in!" The voice was brisk and cordial. They looked up in surprise. Sophia herself had come to the door. As they followed her into the parlor they exchanged glances, with eyebrows lifted. Sophia was not even in mourning. The parlor shades were not even drawn.

"It's nice of you to come," Sophia said. "Do sit down."

"We came," Mrs. Kimball said almost reprovingly, "to tell you that our hearts are bleeding for you in your great loss."

"We know how lonely you must be out here," Mrs. Worthington said. "With nothing to take your mind off of . . ." She sniffed and reached in her purse for a handkerchief.

"Oh, I keep busy," Sophia said. "I've just finished applying for the Government insurance on Tom's life."

The visiting ladies could not resist a shocked glance at one another.

"I want to get it right away," Sophia said. "So I can put it into War Bonds. My boy hasn't finished fighting yet, not by a long shot."

The ladies were so occupied with feeling horrified, so titillated by this callous behaviour in a bereaved mother—that neither of them noticed Sophia's hands. Under the folds of her clean print dress, against the seat of her chair, they were tightly clenched.

BRITISH TAKE CITY OF TRIPOLI FRIDAY

Mussolini's empire is no more.

The flag of Great Britain was waving over the burning city of Tripoli Friday and the advance units of the British 8th army was speeding on in pursuit of General Rommel's axis armies, apparently making their way to Tunisia.

A swiftly moving French column was intercepting the Germans near Tunis and an American army was moving in from the west.

While no official announcement was made of the capture of Tripoli it was conceded everywhere that the end had come and the North African campaign was ending in German and Italian defeat.

As the news came of the fall of North Africa the German press was telling the German people that a major disaster had befallen German arms in Russia and things generally were looking gloomy.

The Russians were moving swiftly. They have scored several major breakthroughs and German armies were in a state of decay all along the line.

In the far east American bombing planes were stretching out a thousand miles to strike new blows at the Japanese navy and one cruiser and other ships were sunk in an enemy held harbor some 950 miles from the scene of fighting in the Solomons.

Victory for the Allies in North

Africa would put the entire expeditionary forces of both Britain and America in position to strike across the Mediterranean at what Winston Churchill called the "belly of the beast."

Speculation was engaging observers in Washington over whether Norway may not now be the logical place for an invasion since Finland has been isolated by the lifting of the siege of Leningrad.

So far as known American soldiers in North Africa have not yet been involved in any major battle.

General Franco, Spanish dictator, has decreed compulsory military service for millions of Spaniards, men and women, boys and girls.

Mrs. M. B. Byars of Houston was visiting in Cameron Friday.

New Directive On Farm Situation Is Received By Board

A new directive dealing with agricultural production and workers was received here Thursday by the local Draft Board.

The new directive repeals a previous memorandum with a conversion table enumerating production standards necessary for a 16 unit production schedule on each farm as a basis for exemption. The new regulations lower the standards.

One of the provisions is that no farm worker may leave the farm without forfeiting his classification.

It was regarded here as meaning deferment for many farm workers who were scheduled for the army. Like all draft regulations the board has wide discretionary powers.

The Local Board is to meet at 5

p. m. today to discuss the new regulations and whether they will affect currently prepared induction orders.

Mrs. H. F. Roberts of Houston is here on a week's visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Leath.

Mrs. M. W. Price who has been ill for several months, has returned from Scott & White hospital in Temple, and is reported to be some better.

Pig in Chicken CoopBrings Out Sheriffs

Injured Duck IsGiven Upper Bill*Insert Plastic Substitute in Delicate Operation.

PEEKSKILL, N. Y.—The Peekskill dental laboratory has as a guest and patient a duck to which a pink upper bill was affixed recently. The bird, a mallard from Lake Mitchell in the Chauncey M. Depew memorial park, is as amazed as any humans who have seen it, and squats morosely in a corner staring cross-eyed at its new adornment, and quacking in a disgruntled manner. Clayton Barger, park superintendent, noticed on a Monday that the mallard was in distress, gyrating wildly about the park lake and squawking dismally. It was Tuesday before he could get close enough to the bird to discover what was wrong. Only the stump of its upper bill remained.

Dr. Robert Poritzky, a dentist who had heard about the unfortunate duck, told the board of park commissioners he thought an upper bill could be modeled of plastic and cemented in place. If enough of the stump of the old bill remained, he said, the mallard would be under no greater handicap than a human being who relied on false teeth in his upper jaw.

The board of park commissioners told Mr. Barger to catch the afflicted duck and have the restoration performed. Mr. Barger is of the opinion that the most difficult part of the operation was assigned to him. It took him and three other men three days to catch the injured duck. They took it to the dental laboratory, where measurements were made and a new upper bill modeled.

Pink plastic was used because it happened to be handy. Dr. Poritzky and Harry Ginberg, manager of the laboratory, painted the stub of the duck's upper bill with silver nitrate, affixed the pink bill with germicidal cement and wired it firmly in place with sutures of stainless steel.

The duck submitted with exceedingly ill grace and waddled off to a corner of its pen in a huff when the operation was completed. Within an hour or two, however, it was consuming sodden bread with increasing interest, pausing in amazement, however, at intervals during the feeding period to stare at its pink nose, which is transparent and resembles the handle of a toothbrush.

English Dialect of FoesDoesn't Lure Australians

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA.—The Japanese have been up to their usual tricks during patrol actions in the last few days, but their devices have misfired in many cases.

The Australians now know from sad experience that a voice from the forest, calling in English: "Here's the position, corporal," is a trap.

The Japanese have erred by saying such things as: "Good morning, Joe," in the middle of the night. One instance is recorded in which a Japanese tried to lure an Australian patrol with the filial question: "How are you, Mom?"

Five Low Notes AddedTo Play New Symphony

BOSTON.—The bass clarinet has hit a new note with the Boston Symphony orchestra. For its first performance of the Shostakovich Seventh Symphony the Boston orchestra introduced the new instrument, which has five new low notes below the usual final bass. The instrument's lowest tone is equivalent to the lowest A-flat on a piano. Rosario Mezzo, bass clarinetist of the orchestra, spent several months perfecting the instrument to get the exact effect wanted by the composer.

RED ARMY WITHIN 16 MILES OF MAIKOPLARGE BODY OF NAZIS TROOPS QUIT THERE

The Red army was within 16 miles of Maikop on the Black Sea and not far from the Crimea Thursday in a new thrust to cut off the Germans in the Caucasus region.

A large body of German soldiers surrendered at one of the advance positions before Maikop. A dispatch at noon said the Nazi surrendered meekly.

South of Veronezh the Russians have begun another offensive and everywhere along the 1200 mile front were advancing.

American planes blasted the U Boat port of Emden in Germany in one of the big raids of the war. Destruction was heavy. Three of the flying fortresses failed to return to their base.

London was pleased with the raid over Germany. Later RAF pilots were over the Channel to devastate a U Boat base off the French coast.

A news broadcast at noon said the Americans in North Africa were moving into battle in Tunisia in force. Cairo had nothing to say.

Heavy air activity over the lines indicated a new push to knock out Rommel.

SHOWER FOR BRIDE

Mrs. Sammie Wright, formerly Miss LaVerne Schuetze, was honored with a miscellaneous shower in the home of Mrs. Fritz Wied, Friday Jan. 22nd from 2 to 5 p. m.

A patriotic theme was carried out in the presentation of gifts when Buddy Roth, dressed in the regular sailor uniform, knocked at the door with a letter for the bride which contained a message informing her where she would find a ship anchored; loaded with many useful and beautiful gifts from her friends.

The patriotic motif was further carried out in the refreshment plate, consisting of chicken salad sandwiches, pickles, cake and hot chocolate.

Approximately eighty guests registered to wish this popular bride happiness and success.

Mrs. Niley Smith, Sr., who has been ailing for several weeks is reported to be improving in the Cameron Hospital; where she was taken for treatment.
